SACCO AND VANZETTI JURY REDS' TARGET

Pamphlet Sent All Over
U. S. Says Radicals Were
'Railroaded.'

WITNESSES ASSAILED

Talesmen Said to Have Been Gathered at Masonic Meetings.

'UNFAIRNESS' DETAILED

Men to Die for Killing Paymaster Should Have Got Separate Trials, Alleged.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
BOSTON, Nov. 22.—All the propaganda put out hereafter in this country in favor of Sacco and Vanzetti, sentenced to die for murdering a paymaster in South Braintree, is to follow closely along the lines set up by the defense in its appeal for a new trial.
The public is to be "educated" in the case, in the final drive of the Reds as they seek to strengthen their cause with the rallying cry "Save Sacco and Vanzetti!"

Lawyers for the defense, who are appealing for another trial, and who are prepared to carry the case to the Supreme Court of this State if their first petitions are denied, are supplying detailed information to the leaders in New York and other cities, where mass meetings are being arranged.
The charge will be that Sacco and Vanzetti are being railroaded because they are Communists leaders.

One of the first charges is that there was irregularity in selecting the jury.
Seven jurors were chosen from the first panel of 600. Judge Webster Thayer ordered Sheriff Samuel Capen to bring in a new venire of 200 men selected from bytanders and the county at large. The defense alleges that the deputy sheriffs visited Masonic meetings at Needham and other towns and a band concert at Braintree and handpicked the new panel.

Double Trial Is Decried.
It is charged that the second offence was denying separate trials for Sacco and Vanzetti, although the defence set up that the rights of one would be injured by evidence offered against the other, as the same evidence was not offered against both.

Vanzetti was accused of having taken part in an attempted holdup in Bridgewater on December 24, 1919, four months

GIRL'S KISS IN PLAY SO REAL SHE LOSES JOB IN CHOIR

Realistic Acting in Musical Comedy by Amateurs Moves Simsbury Church to Replace Soprano Soloist.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
HARTFORD, Nov. 22.—Because of too realistic acting in the love scenes in the musical comedy "Kathleen," presented under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club by an amate-teur cast here last week, Miss Isabel Miller, Hartford society girl, has lost her place in the choir of the Congregational Church in Simsbury.

The play was made somewhat of a social event, the patrons and patronesses including many of the most prominent people in Hartford. Members of the Simsbury church were also among those present and they carried back the impression that when Miss Miller kissed the hero there was something altogether too realistic and enthusiastic.

about the way she did it. When she appeared at the church last Sunday she found a substitute singer had been engaged.

The man who played all of the love scenes with the young woman was Randolph T. Burnham, tenor soloist in the Church of the Redeemer, Hartford. As yet Mr. Burnham has not been asked to resign. Miss Miller has made a serious study of music and has a splendid soprano voice. She has appeared in amateur theatricals before and her work has been highly praised.

The majority of those present at the performance of "Kathleen" thought nothing about the kissing episode until the action of the church became known to-day. Officials of the church refused to comment on the matter in any way.

before the Braintree paymaster was shot dead while carrying his payroll to the Slaters & Morrill shoe factory. On the Bridgewater charge Vanzetti was convicted at a trial which began several months after the arrest for the Braintree crime. The defence charges that this was used against Vanzetti at the second trial and was manifestly unfair to Sacco.

Thirteen witnesses were produced by the State to identify Sacco and Vanzetti as two of the occupants of the automobile in which the bandits rode into the shoe factory yards and in which they escaped with $15,000 after the killing.
The defence challenges the testimony of each of these witnesses and each will be picked to pieces in the new propaganda.

Shelley Neal, one of the State's most important witnesses, is the American Express Company's agent at Braintree.
He received the money for the shoe factory payroll the morning of the murder. When he was carrying the money across the street to the factory he observed two men leaning against a fence watching him.

They looked like bad men, he said, and he felt for his revolver. Then he took a good look at them. One stepped into a green car, claimed to be the "murder car," whose motor was running. He was not absolutely positive in his identification that either was Sacco or Vanzetti, but was reasonably certain, and his testimony went a long way.

Last Man to Talk to Victim.
James E. Bostock, important State witness, attacked by the defence, is a millwright, and he was the last man to speak to Paramenter, the paymaster. He was close by when the bandits fired, and they shot twice at him. He fled. He had a good look at the bandits and saw them dash for the car.
His identification is as strong as any, yet the defence asserts he failed to pick either Sacco or Vanzetti when he first faced them in a police court.

In these and the cases of half a dozen others who made partial identification of either Sacco or Vanzetti the defence declares the State "exhibited" both prisoners so that witnesses had plenty of opportunity to make identifications.

The defence ridicules the identification made of the prisoners by Mary Eva Splaine and Miss Frances Devlin, bookkeepers in the shoe factory. They testified they saw the bandits from their office window. Miss Splaine described minutely one of the bandits who was leaving from the car as Sacco.

The defence cites the testimony of twenty-eight witnesses all within eight and sound of the shooting, who declared they could not identify either Sacco or Vanzetti.

Propaganda in Pamphlets.
"Identifications were obtained by the police in this case much as they were engineered in the Mooney and Billings case in California," say the radical propaganda sheets. The police jagged misleading witnesses into identifying persons they had never seen before. Fifty men and women and a boy who had seen the crimes were gathered in a large room in the Brockton police station.
The prisoners were brought in unkempt and paraded around the room. Many of the witnesses said "No." Others were uncertain.

"None would give positive identification. Some said the men they had seen had tanned hair, had caps pulled over their eyes or had been crouching with revolvers in hand. The prisoners were compelled to pose. Their hair was tousled. Caps were pulled over their eyes. Four or five of the audience began to feel uncertainty changing to probability."

"Stoutly manacled, the prisoners were exhibited in a car resembling the car the bandits had used and were driven through the streets of Bridgewater, South Braintree, Dedham and Milford.
In each town they were set up on exhibition and rehearsed as they had been at Brockton. And thus was 'identity' in violation of all the rights of the prisoners."

OPERATION ON F. D. GALLATIN.
Francis D. Gallatin, Manhattan Park Commissioner, underwent a second operation yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital, and was reported to be resting comfortably last night. The operation was performed by Dr. William A. Downes of 424 Park avenue, and it was said at the hospital was for removal of the gall bladder.

SEES WOMEN MORE HEALTHY THAN MEN

Get More Air on Their Skins, Says Saranac Senatorium Head.

SHORT SKIRT BENEFICIAL

Worst Thing for Soldiers Was Military Uniform Worn
in War.

Dr. Lawrason Brown, head of the Trudeau Sanatorium at Saranac Lake, N. Y., told the meeting of the Association of Tuberculosis Clinics in the Academy of Medicine last night that the fact that the mortality from tuberculosis is lower among women than among men is probably due to the fact that women get more air on their skins than men do.

"Short skirts," said Dr. Brown, "are tremendously beneficial, and I hope that American women will continue to wear them. In the Adirondacks many of the women are wearing trousers, and I think that is an excellent idea, as it enables them to move about with freedom and obtain plenty of healthy exercise. The worst thing we ever did for our soldiers was to put them in the military uniform which they wore during the war, which kept away all air from their bodies."

Dr. Brown expressed the belief that more than 90 per cent. of the young people who live in the cities and who are between twenty and twenty-five years of age have tubercular bacilli in their bodies and that a constant struggle goes on to keep these benign infections from developing into virulent tuberculosis.

"Daylight saving is a great boon to cities," said Dr. Brown. "Anything which keeps men from becoming run down will keep the tubercle bacillus which so many have in their bodies from developing. High wages, limited hours of work, plenty of sleep and fresh air and daylight saving, which keeps them out of doors, are foes to tuberculosis."

WAR VETERAN SWANN'S AID.

Donald R. Baldwin of the law firm of Griggs, Baldwin & Baldwin, 27 Pine street, was appointed a Deputy Assistant District Attorney yesterday. District Attorney Swann has assigned him to the complaint bureau.

Mr. Baldwin is a son of Arthur B.
Baldwin of the same firm. He is a graduate of Cornell University and the Columbia Law School. During the war he served in the French forces as an ambulance driver, and was later commissioned in the United States Field Artillery. His brother, Corporal Morgan S.
Baldwin of the 107th Infantry, was killed in France in September, 1918.

LIQUOR WAREHOUSE IN NEWARK SEIZED

Major C. S. Shotwell and Three Others Indicted on Bootleg Accusation.

BRIBE CHARGE MADE

Conspiracy Alleged to Withdraw Huge Store of Rum on Forged Permits.

The Le Breque Warehouse, in Newark, the largest repository for bonded liquors in New Jersey, was seized yesterday by order of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. That action followed the indictment of Major Charles S. Shotwell and three other New York men by the Federal Grand Jury in Newark on charges alleging a conspiracy to purchase control of the warehouse as part of a bootlegging scheme. Hugh Mc-Quillan, chief of the special intelligence unit, Internal Revenue Bureau, announced yesterday that Major Shotwell, through his counsel, had promised to surrender himself to-day in answer to the four indictments found against him.

The scheme of which the New Jersey prohibition authorities, particularly Harry E. Sands, Federal prohibition agent, alleges Major Shotwell was the brains, included in its scope not only the gaining of a two-thirds control of the warehouse but the release of large stores of liquors on forged permits.
Major Shotwell, according to the charges, acted as the broker of the other trio named in the indictment, Dr.
William Garner, Isidore Simonelli and Joseph Epifani, in the negotiations to purchase the warehouse and an alleged attempt to bribe Agent Sands to permit the withdrawal of liquor through the forged permits.

Mr. Sands went before the Grand Jury and swore, it is stated, that he was offered $15,000 and a one-fifth share of the two-thirds ownership of the warehouse if he would permit the scheme to go through. The agent, it was said, permitted the alleged conspiracy to proceed to the point where money actually was passed before he went before the Grand Jury. Mr. Sands was in the Intelligence Service during the war and met Major Shotwell, who was in the aviation service, and they became warm friends.
That friendship, it is alleged, was used to further the conspiracy charged in the indictments.

Robert Surtees, Assistant Prohibition Director of New Jersey, said figures compiled by him showed a large amount of liquor was leaking out of the La Breque Warehouse on forged permits.
From just what part of the country these permits were coming Mr. Surtees could not say, but he was inclined to believe the majority of them came from this city. A number of unfilled orders were on hand when the prohibition agents descended on the warehouse yesterday morning, and these were confiscated. Whether there were any forged ones among them could not be ascertained.

Coincident with the seizure of the warehouse was a report that the prohibition directing force of New Jersey was about to witness the greatest shakeup that has occurred in that State since national prohibition went into effect.
Greene Miller, formerly chief assistant to Acting Prohibition Director E. C. Yellowly of New York, went to Newark in the afternoon to arrange for a "flying squadron" similar to that in this city.
The report had it that the lid was going to shut down as tight on New Jersey as it was possible to do so.
